2 次の英文は、高校生の武志 (Takeshi) が、英語の授業で行った、惑星についてのスピーチの原稿です。これを読み、〔問1〕～〔問3〕に答えなさい。

Today, I'd like to talk about some planets in space. I love planets. Last year, my father gave me a book about planets with beautiful pictures. It was great. The book made me happy. Since then, I've been interested in planets.

When I talked with our science teacher, Ms. Suzuki, she said, "There are many planets in space. And they have their own features. Do you know Venus? Venus is a beautiful planet which is smaller than the Earth." I knew the names of some planets, but I didn't know much about them. So I wanted to know about planets more.

Last weekend, I researched the four planets which are close to the Sun. They are Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. I got data about them from books and websites. I wanted to share the data, so I made charts. Please look at these charts. Chart 1 shows the order of the four planets from the Sun. Chart 2 shows the order of their size. From these charts, we can see that Mercury is the closest to the Sun and it is the smallest of the four. From the Sun, Mars is farther than the Earth.

Of these four planets, I thought that the largest planet was Mars because it's the farthest from the Sun. But I was not right. Mars is the second smallest planet of the four. I learned new things from making these charts. I love to learn about planets because there are many things I don't know. In the future, I'll continue to learn about them.

- 5 次の英文は、高校生の奈菜（Nana）が、英語の授業で行ったスピーチの原稿です。これを読み、〔問1〕～〔問6〕に答えなさい。

Today, I'd like to talk about my dream. But before telling you what my dream is, A There are seven members in my family. The oldest member of the seven is my great-grandfather. He is now 98 years old. When he was young, he was in the battlefields overseas for two years during World War II. A few months ago, my great-grandfather and I were watching TV news about wars in foreign countries. Then he told me about his own sad experiences in World War II. He also told me, "Wars make many people sad. Please try to imagine their feelings. It's something everyone can do."

Ⓐ After talking with my great-grandfather, ( learn, began, about, to, I ) wars in the world. I visited many websites for world peace. I also read many newspaper articles about wars. I was surprised to learn there are so many people feeling sad because of wars. And I have realized I should think about wars more. B

I've also learned there are many kinds of online activities to support world peace. Even high school students can join some of them. Actually, I joined an online international forum for peace last week. Many foreign high school students joined it. We talked about peace and shared our ideas. After the forum, I told my great-grandfather about Ⓑ my good experience in the forum. He looked very happy.

Ⓒ Now my friends, my dream is to ( peaceful, the world, make, more ). Some of you may think it's very difficult for high school students to do something for world peace. But that's not true. After the forum, I received many e-mails from the high school students who joined the forum. In the e-mails, some of the students say they have groups for peace in their schools. The members of the group work together to take actions for peace, such as making messages and songs. Some groups have peace events at their school festivals. It's cool! Even high school students can do many things for world peace.

Joining the forum was just the first action to reach my dream. And my next action is to make a group for peace in our school. Ⓓ These actions may be small, but I believe even a small action can make the world better if many people try. Why don't we work together?
